Note to applicant: Please provide a copy of these guidelines to each individual who is writing a letter of reference for you.

Guidelines for Letters of Reference

The National Association for Drama Therapy certifies Registered Drama Therapists to become trainers and mentors in the field, called Board-Certified Trainers (BCT). These people will be guiding, teaching, and supervising individuals who will learn and practice drama therapy, and become a Registered Drama Therapist.

As part of the application process, we request your reference for the prospective BCT. This letter will help us assess the applicant's qualifications for the role of mentor.

Please include the following information in your letter:

Specify:

1. Your relationship to the applicant and the context in which you know this person
2. The applicant's working relationship with peers and trainees
3. The applicant's character, personal boundaries, and comfort with their role as authority figure
4. The applicant's creativity, clinical skills, supervisory, and/or teaching ability
5. Strengths and weaknesses
6. Other comments or recommendations about the applicant
7. Your contact information with address, phone number, fax and email

The letter must be placed in a sealed envelope with the writer's signature across the seal. This letter of reference is confidential and will not be shared with the BCT applicant at any time. The applicant will forward the sealed reference along with other required documentation with their application.

Application Process:

Submit five (5) typed copies of the application described below:

Completed applications must be received at the NADT office before August 15, or March 15 of each calendar year, and should consist of the following:

BCT Application

1. Application Form (first page of this document).

2. Letter of Intent (4-5 double-spaced, typewritten pages). Please share with us how you came to drama therapy and why you want to be a Board-Certified Trainer at this time. Tell us how you want to use the BCT, describe people, theories and events that have influence your work as a drama therapist and your goals as a teacher and supervisor. Include your theoretical orientation, familiarity of the scope of drama therapy, and any specialization you may have in the field. Outline your philosophy in guiding the professional development and skill building of a drama therapist. Conclude with your long-term professional plans. In order to make the extent of your mentorship experience clear, please make a detailed account of teaching and supervisory hours, including settings, with actual face-to-face or group supervision. Please describe your professional affiliations and NADT involvement.

3. Curriculum vitae that includes:

- contact information;
- education and training experience;
- work experience that includes descriptions of positions and responsibilities
(emphasize theatre and clinical settings)
- include names of supervisors or mentors.

Include copies of any certifications, presentations, publications and honors you have received.

4. Documentation of your registration. Please submit a copy of your RDT registration certificate, current NADT membership, and any other relevant licenses or certificates.

5. Letters of reference. Send three letters of reference from professionals who are familiar with your work as a clinician, teacher, trainer, and supervisor. All such letters must specify the writer's relationship to you and the type of setting you were affiliated with. (Letters from clients, students, and supervisees—past or present—will not be accepted. Family members cannot write letters for applicants.) They must address your relationship with peers and trainees. Have them refer to your character, personal boundaries and your role as an authority figure. We are interested in knowing about your creativity, your clinical and supervisory abilities, strengths and weaknesses.

The letters must be sent in a sealed enveloped with the writer's name across the seal.

Send all letters together with your application material.

These letters are confidential and will not be shared with you at any time.

6. List of References. On a separate sheet of paper, include the names, addresses, phone numbers, and emails of the three people for whom you have requested a letter of reference, in case their letter does not include complete contact information.

7. Include a check for the non-refundable $75 application fee.
